SENT TO WORK HOUSE.

Chicken Thief Gets His Reward of 27 Days.

Thursday night a lot of chickens were stolen from Mrs. Jo. Reed, on Durrett avenue. The matter was reported to the police Friday morning and officer Nixon took a bloodhound to the scene of the theft. The dog soon struck a trail and followed to the home of Ed Willis, colored. Willis was arrested and tried by Judge Fowler, who sentenced him to the work house for 27 days.

Successful Operation.

Mr. Horace Rutherford, of Elkton, who had an operation performed here on one of his feet, on account of an ingrowing toenail, will be able to return home the latter part of this week. Dr. R. L. Woodard performed the operation.

Interest Increasing.

The meeting at Fairview, conducted by Revs. W. F. Cashman, of this place, and A. D. Leitchfield, of Pembroke, is increasing in interest each day and the series will continue throughout this week. Large crowds attend.

HEBRON MEETING.

Ten-day's Series to Commence November 22.

A protracted meeting will commence at Hebron church, near Church Hill, on Sunday, November 22. Rev. W. F. Cashman, the pastor, will be assisted in the series of meetings by Rev. Chenauff, of Springfield, Tenn. There will be two services each day--at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. The meeting will continue about ten days.

DIVORCE SUIT

First Action Filed After Adjournment of Court.

The first divorce suit filed here since adjournment of Circuit Court Friday was that of Jennie Seargent, filed with the Circuit Clerk yesterday. Plaintiff alleges drunkenness and cruel treatment. The parties are colored. The case will not be tried until the spring term of court.

Col. W. R. Howell went to Murray yesterday.

"NOT GUILTY"

Said the Jury in the James Grant Case.

Suit Against Courier-Journal Company Compromised and Stricken From the Docket.

The concluding argument in the case of James Grant, charged with the murder of Harrison Hamby in July last, was made by Common wealth's attorney Howell Friday morning and the jury took the case just before noon. After deliberating until Saturday morning a verdict of not guilty was returned.

The proof showed that Hamby had uttered slanderous remarks about Grant's wife and daughter and the jury decided that the prisoner was justifiable in taking the life of Hamby, having acted in self defense.

The suit of Jim Will Anderson against the Louisville Courier Journal Company for $25,000 damages was compromised at $300 and the case stricken from the docket.

Court adjourned Saturday, after having been in session six weeks.

THE T. P. A.'S MEETING.

Enjoyable Program Arranged for Entertainment of Party.

The American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents meet in annual session at New Orleans today. A special train from Chicago passed through Hopkinsville, over the L. & N. road, Sunday, carrying members of the association to New Orleans.

At Birmingham special sleepers from Kansas City and Memphis were attached to the train and at Montgomery sleepers from New York and Boston were taken on.

At Pensacola yesterday the party was given a boat ride around Pensacola Harbor and visited Fort Barracas, the navy yard and other points of interest.

The return trip will be made over the Illinois Central via Memphis. From Memphis there will be a side trip to Hot Springs, Ark., over the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf Road.

CASE DISMISSED.

Killing of Joe Benton, Asylum Inmate, Was Accidental.

The examining trial of John W. Long, who shot and killed Joseph P. Benton, an asylum inmate, while out hunting on the afternoon of the 31st ult., was held Friday morning before Judge W. T. Fowler and the case was dismissed. It was shown that the killing was purely accidental.

Benton and another asylum patient were in the woods near the asylum gathering hickory nuts. Benton had climbed a tree to shake the nuts down. Mr. Long, who is an old man and whose eyesight is impaired, saw the leaves shake, and thinking it was a squirrel, fired. Benton was struck in the breast and died in a few minutes.

CLARKSVILLE DEPOT

Tennessee Central Has Fixed the Location of the Structure.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 6.—The Tennessee Central freight depot will be erected on the lot north of old tobacco exchange at the corner of Telegraph and College streets. The building will be 180x50 feet and will have entrance on either College or Telegraph street. It will be a frame structure, two stories high and will cost about $3,500. The freight offices will front on College street.

Eleven Additions to Church.

The meeting, which had been in progress at Rich for two weeks, closed Sunday night. There were eleven additions to the church. The pastor, Rev. W. B. Wright, of this city, was assisted by Rev. Fowler, of Madisonville.

NEW REPUBLIC

Of Panama is Formally Recognized by Uncle Sam.

Believed That Roosevelt Knew What Was Coming and Was Ready.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—The republic of Panama was formally recognized by the United States Government Friday and instructions sent to the United States minister to Colombia and Vice Consul at Panama to inform the Government respectively. In the meantime the action of the Government is being discussed by the entire world.

Favorable expressions have come from Paris and London. Senator Morgan gave out a statement in which he charges that the President has exceeded the bounds of the treaty of 1846 and will probably involve the country in a war with Colombia. Secretary of State Hay in a lengthy statement, defends the attitude of the President and says that he acted in accordance with all principles of justice and right and all established precedents. All is quiet at Panama and Colombia with no prospect of bloodshed.

CLAXTON-TAPP.

Virginia Woman Comes to Kentucky and Weds Farmer.

Mr. R. P. Claxton, a well-known farmer of near Casky, and Miss Sissie E. Tapp, of Alexandria, Va., were married at the home of the groom at 5 last Friday afternoon. The Rev. W. H. Vaughan, of Fairview, performed the ceremony. Mr. Joseph Claxton of this city, (begroom's son by a former marriage, and the former's wife attended the wedding. The event was scheduled to take place the latter part of last August and Mr. Claxton went to Virginia with the Old Point excursion party, but on arrival found the bride-to-be sick with fever, and the marriage had to be postponed. As soon as Miss Tapp fully recovered she came to Kentucky, arriving at Casky Friday morning.

GRACEY HUNTING CLUB

Will Take an Outing on Muddy Fork.

The Gracey Hunting Club will not go on their regular hunt to Arkansas this fall. A number of members of the club will, however, take an outing on Muddy Fork, between Cadiz and the Cumberland river. They will leave Saturday and on arrival will go to camp preparatory to beginning the hunt for small game Monday, the 1st inst., the day after the next day expires. Game is said to be plentiful in that section and fishing good. Following is a list of those from Gracey who will compose the party: R. H. Baker, J. J. Reed, B. J. Wall, Gipp Watkins, Lawrence Baker, J. P. Watson and Dr. G. E. Medley. Several parties from Cadiz and Canton, and Judge Paul Turney, of Cerulean, will also go on the trip. They will be in camp about two weeks.

THE SEVENTH EVENT.

BY HELEN S. WRIGHT.

It was the last Saturday of the season at the hop yards. In the fields the pickers had but a scant six hours of work, for the kilns were overcrowded. In the balling rooms the long steel needles had been piled continuously. At short intervals, heavy burled-up oblongs were rolled from the scales and added to the stack for ship ment.

Brady was only a picker. He had been "laid off" with the rest. In the meager shade beneath his tramp wagon he was stretched, face downward. Grasshoppers lighted fearlessly upon his back and sprang off again, their wings clicking metallically. The sorrel mare, tethered to a clump of willow, came the length of her rope, and whinnied for water. There was a stir in the wagon, and the sudden loud cry of an awakening child. A froggy-headed little boy peered from under the canvas curtains, then he clambered down and stood ankle deep in the stubble.

"Daddy," he called. "Daddy! Me's hungry, daddy."

The man sat up and stared at the forlorn little figure.

"Amos is hungry, daddy?" the child continued, imperatively.

"Yes, yes," the man mechanically answered. He rose and stumbled over to a row of improvised shelves behind the sheet iron camp stove. The first can he opened was empty. The second held part of a loaf of bread. He cut a generous slice and greased it sparingly with butter from a jar. Then he lifted the little fellow, swung him into the wagon again and climbed in behind him.

The child eyed the bread with round, disapproving eyes. "Mommie gives me nuttiness," he said, "no eat."

"And she gives my kittle milk," he grabbed a lank gray kitten by its fore leg and pulled it toward him. "In the morning," he continued, thoughtfully, "mommie gives me much—an' nuttiness. I want my mommie, daddy."

The man made no answer. His eyes traveled from the band of fresh cotton crepe upon his hat to a faded pink sunbonnet that dangled among other garments, suspended by huge safety pins from the wagon top. The child's gaze followed his. "Will she be sorry 'cause she didn't take her bunnet?" he asked. Wondering at the silence, he looked questioningly into his father's face. "Is yer cry in some more, daddy?" One gray little hand patted the rough crease above him, leaving to it the traces of its moisture. "Yes, mommie," he said. "Amos'll go an' find her."

Brady pushed the boy suddenly from him, swung out of the wagon and busied himself with the scant preparations for the evening meal. As he worked, a child's treble floated out to him, crooning in a fashion of its own: "We're goin'—ter find—my mommie! We're goin'—ter find—my mommie!"

The larder was limited. Never had the purse been so thin since Tom Brady and Marcia, his wife, had become of the people known in the west as "wagon tramps." The inevitable "rainy day" had come. It had found them in the midst of spring season at the drier. There had been a bill illness and the child was "hoarded out" for a week. Then came the funeral. Brady had borrowed a low, flat wagon, and the mare, Sinabar, had drawn Marcia for the last time. At the hop yards it was not much in very much with a child to look after. Grief adds to one's fingers. So the mush and the "m-m-m-m-m" had given out; the pocketbook was depleted.

A square of blue, printed paper from the town press fluttered over the stubble. Brady, slicing potatoes, had unconsciously panned and picked it up.

"Hay of Sports!" it read. "Last Sunday of the Season at the Hop Yards! Everyone Invited!"

The letters swam before him; through them he saw visions of the past. For a moment he seemed back in other "sport days" back with Marcia, the girl he courted with Marcia, the daughter of the mill owner, the mother of the boy who was now sitting on the stretch of road down the pike to the "Amusementments."

"1—Foot race, 100 yards, free for all; prize, $5.

"2—Young ladies' races, 50 yards; 16 years and over; prize, $2.50.

"3—Tug of war contest, purse, $10.

"4—Hopscack race, free for all, to stake and return; prize, $2.50.

"5—Long jump contest, free for all; prize, $2.50.

"6—Wrestling match, 'Pickles' Smith vs. Lawton Perry; purse, $5.

"7—Half-mile running heat from commissary department to county road; open to all owners of horses; purse, $20."

Brady's gaze dwelt upon the last named stakes. He sighed in volition. The amount was equal to the picking of 2,000 pounds of hops!

"Daddy," the boy was standing beside him. His grave eyes searched the contents of the pan upon his father's lap. "Amos don't like bread and taters," he said, then added, decisively: "He wants pie!"

A shadow rested on the man's face, his brows contracted. The child saw it. Grasping his father's shirt, he climbed upon his knee. His chubby arms clung coaxingly. "Amos is a good boy," he pleaded, "but he wants—some pie."

The man groaned; his mind reverted to the $20 stakes. Pie—money—the child's contentment. The three were synonymous. A sudden thought came to him. It sent the blood surging over his cheeks and forehead. He half rose to his feet, and sat down again. At last he resolutely stood up.

"I'll be hanged if I don't try!" he said.

He raised himself to his toes, and teetered up and down to test the suppleness of his muscles. Once, it was very long since, he had been the crack rider of a traveling show. Once, he had ridden bareback in the ring, had picked up bouquets from the sidewalk, while the band brayed inharmoniously, and a thousand people on the benches whistled and cheered and applauded. Sinabar, too, had had her days, though it was very long in the background. Tradition said she had been on the grand circuit; she had made a mile in 2:04; to wagon, with running mate! She was spry-kneed and cockle-jointed now. Her teeth had been filed long ago to make mastication possible, and yet—

Brady walked over to her. There was a spring in his step that it had not known since the days of shadow at the drier. He caught her by the bare rope around her neck. "Whoa! Steady, old girl," he said. "Steady!" Sinabar, her forelegs bowed by force of disease, raised her drooping head. When had she not been steady!

"Easy there!" Brady went on. He ran his hand along her ungrazed sides to her flanks, cautiously felt of her hocks, her pasterns, then he straightened him and addressed her.

"We'll try it, partner," he said, "wee as gunpowder!"

In the twilight that followed supper, Brady put the bridle to the blinders was loose; the other was fastened on with cotton twine, but that did not matter. He vaulted to her back and looked cautiously up and down the stretch of stubble. The field was clear. From the acres of tents at a distance floated the high tones of a cornet. Voices reached him faintly, like the voices in a dream. The man leaned forward. He spoke in the language of the turf. Sinabar held up her head as if for the moment forgotten. A flying figure was silhouetted against the trailing crimson of the west. At the commissary office that night a new name was entered for the seventh event.

The sun blazed pitilessly down on the stretch of road from the hop yards. Heat waves chased one another along the once-calls. The whitened stubble seemed to shift uncertainly in the light. A vendor was selling pink amaretto, and a thin little man sounded his way in and out among the crowds of head hands, giving the time-honored cry: "Hokey, hokey, chewing candy, peanuts and popcorn!" Rosy girls leaned proudly upon the arms of their "stendies," or walked with them, hand-in-hand, their fingers dove tailed together. The foot races had been run. The "tug of war" and the jumping contests were over. "Pickles" Smith had knocked out Lawton Perry in the second round, and only the half-mile running heat remained to complete the amusements for the day. The people were growing impatient to have it over.

There were but four contestants entered. Three of them were already on the ground. Baldy, a white-faced bay, wore colors of blue cheese cloth floating from his bridle. John, a sturdy Mexican pony, carried streamers of orange, and Frisco, a horse of good points and evident breeding, had ribbons of red. Their riders waited anxiously. Suddenly a whirl of dust approached toward the sprinkled track. From it Brady emerged. His mare carried no colors. Her neck was stretched forward. Her open mouth showed the long yellow teeth. The loose blinder of her harness bridle flapped with every step. Her rider wore no decoration but the band of new cotton crepe upon his hat.

"Hi!" some one ironically shouted. "Six to one on the sorrel thoroughbred! She'll make a grand stand finish, she will!" There was a general laugh. Brady lined up without a word, and waited for the signal.

They were off! It was a capital start. Frisco was making the pace. The blue was running second. John was a length behind, and Sinabar—

"Where's your buckskin, donkey?" roared a man. "Speed her on! Speed her on! Speed her on!" The crowd applauded.

"A season's picking on the yellow jay," yelled another. "Why don't you make her go, Brady?" Brady did not hear them. He was leaning forward. Every muscle was tense; his voice, low, vibrant, was urging the mare to her utmost. Frisco was making time. John was holding his own, but Sinabar was creeping up. She had collared him! She had passed him! She was running neck to neck with the blue!

The people no longer jeered. They leaned forward with straining eyes.

"By gosh," the man cried. "She's up with old Frisco! The mare's got ahead!"

In the excitement, no one noticed the tiny figure trudging along the road. His frock was torn and dirty. He held a lank gray kitten close within his arms. "We're goin'—ter find—my mommie," he crooned, then stopped, as he heard the rushing hoofs behind him. He saw his father in the lead. "Daddy," he cried, "take me!"

Four foam-flecked horses were bounding down upon him. Four sets of iron shoes were pounding on the track. The people saw it all. Men shut their teeth hard. Women caught up their own babies and hid their faces in the chubby breasts.

And Brady—he nudged at the bit, but the mare was keen for the goal. The old spirit was firing her veins. It was his child and—here, Marcia! There was but one chance. In the days on the ring—

"Amos," he cried, "stand—still!" White-faced, he swept down upon him, threw one arm about the mare's neck—leaped low. The air pulsed with the beat of 16 iron shoes.

From the flying mud and gravel of the watered road, Frisco dashed to the winning post. Sinabar carried a child on her back with a kitten clasped in his arms.

There was a box placed by the pickers in the office of the commissary department the next day. It had a slit at the top. The men, when they cashed up their coupons, sidled along to it as though ashamed of their generosity. The inscription above it read:

"For Brady's motherless kid, who rode in the seventh event."

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

"The Henderson Route"—Always First.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 29, 1903.—

The traveling public will be pleased to learn of the latest innovation in the way of comfort for travel for its patron which is now being offered by that most popular railroad, The Henderson Route, which road has been rightly termed the "Traveler's Official Route."

It has just been announced from the general office of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railway that they now have in service on their night trains between Louisville and St. Louis, Free reclining Chair Cars, which have just been received from the shops and are a revelation in the car builder's art.

The cars are stry up to date, first-class "p-luxus of travel" on wheels, and which are promised by the Henderson Route.

Among other advantages offered, I see likely finished cars, a few of the most important points only are mentioned:

They are solidly vestibuled and are furnished with sixty-four reclining chairs, which are upholstered in beautiful green plush, in addition smoking and toilet rooms being furnished throughout in leather. They are also fitted up with triple trucks, which feature will do away with the jerk, jar and strain incident to travel in the ordinary railway coach, and insure a smooth, comfortable ride.

This should prove more than a popular feature to train service to the traveling public, and we can suggest that in traveling you get the Henderson Route habit.

A Novelty in Railroad Education.

The novel project of running a palatial special train from Chicago to New Orleans and return, a distance of nearly 2,000 miles, for the benefit of competitors was successfully carried out by the officials of the Illinois Central Railroad last week. Nearly 100 general passenger agents and members of their families were the guests of the Illinois Central during the trip, everything, including musical entertainments in the observation car, being provided by the company. Had anyone undertaken to purchase the service and entertainment provided the cost could not have been far from $10,000. The train was, so to speak, an edition de luxe, the Pullman Company certifying that the new cars furnished were the finest ever manufactured by them, and the engineers and train crew the most expert in the employ of the railroad company.

The novelty of the affair consisted largely in the fact that a few years ago railroad companies strove to keep from competitors accurate knowledge of conditions along their lines of railroad. Excluding the complimentary feature, the main purpose of the Illinois Central expedition was to educate competitors regarding the unexcelled transportation facilities possessed by that company, and the possibilities which lie in the development of the South. Although progressive men, the general passenger agents who were on the trip were amazed to learn that the Illinois Central now practically has a double track system all the way between Chicago and New Orleans and a rock ballasted roadbed with few grades and curves, which is capable of accommodating an enormous volume of traffic. They were also surprised at the phenomenal commercial and industrial awakening which the South is experiencing, and they will spread the news regarding both facts for months to come.

In doing this they will be advertising the South most effectively and promoting travel there from every quarter of the country. Naturally the Illinois Central will get the benefit of this, for, in short, it has recruited a force of 100 live advertising agents from among the ranks of its active competitors. Under railroad methods in vogue prior to the era of "community of interests" such an undertaking would have been hailed as suicidal.—Editorial, Chicago Record-Herald.

The Influence of The Youth's Companion.

The gospel of good cheer brightens every page of The Youth's Companion. Although the paper is nearly seventy-seven years of age it does not look back on the past as a better period than the present. The Companion believes that the time most full of promise is the time we are living in, and every week issue reflects this spirit of looking for and not back.

To more than half a million American families it carries every week its message of cheer. Its stories picture the true characteristics of the young men and women of America. Its articles bring nearly three million readers in touch with the best thought of the most famous of living men and women.

Annual Announcement Number, fully describing the principal features of The Companion's new volume for 1904 will be sent to any address free.

The new subscriber for 1904 will receive all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1903 free from the time of subscription, also The Companion calendar for 1904, lithographed in twelve colors and gold.

Declared in interview. Algeon Sotiros, former army captain and founder of Gen Grant, declared in interview at Coburg, Ont., that the United States should take possession of Canada.

Energy all gone? Headache? Stomach out of order? Simply a case of torpid liver. Burdock Blood Bitters will make a new man or woman of you.

A HAPPY HOME

Is one where health abounds. With impure blood there cannot be good health. With a disordered LIVER there cannot be good blood.

Tutt's Pills

revivify the torpid LIVER and restore its natural action.

A healthy LIVER means pure blood. Pure blood means health. Health means happiness. Take no Substitute. All Druggists.

Declares for Independence.

A ministerial organ in Canada declared independence from Great Britain, or at least a more recognition of King Edward's sovereignty.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when rearing his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to soothe him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour the child was all right and in two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Indiana, and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. MISSING BALLOTS FOUND.

They Increase the Majority of Democratic Candidate for Mayor.

Howling Green, Ky., Nov. 4.—Thirteen Democratic ballots stolen from the Police Court precinct in this city were recovered this afternoon and are now in the safe of Judge George R. Gorin, the Democratic county chairman. At the count of the vote last night on the Police Court precinct thirteen ballots were missing when the ballots and stub books were compared. All day the Republicans have been claiming the Democrats made way with them, and this was to be part of the basis of a contest in the race for Mayor.

This afternoon a Republican found the thirteen ballots in the lavatory on the courthouse grounds. He showed them to partisan friends and finally turned them over to the Democratic authorities. The ballots are all Democratic and increase the majority of George T. Wilson, the Democratic candidate for Mayor from twenty-two to thirty-five. Notwithstanding this majority, Col. E. L. Mottley will contest the election.

THE BOY RECOVERED.

A Prominent Business Man of Hopkinsville Tells About It.

Endorsements such as this from all over the world are the firm foundation on which Doan's Kidney Pills have built a reputation.

M. V. Davis, of Eades & Davis, dealers in coal on East Seventh street, at the L. & N. R. R. station, who lives at 508 North Main street, says: "I advise the use of Doan's Kidney Pills in all cases similar to that of my son who for some time complained of backache and was troubled with a kidney weakness which was very annoying at night. We tried many different remedies and he was treated by the family physician, but nothing seemed to do him much good. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills from a box at Thomas & Traher's drugstore. He used them and there was a noticeable improvement in a short time. After he had taken all of the contents which had proven such an annoyance was entirely relieved. We consider Doan's Kidney Pills certainly worthy of a strong endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

SEVERAL KILLINGS.

Occurred In Kentucky On Election Day.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—In a pistol duel in the voting place of the Thirty-ninth precinct of the eleventh ward, at Thirteenth and Green streets, Thomas Kiley, the Democrat judge was this afternoon shot through the heart and probably fatally. He was shot by Jacob Krieger, the Republican sheriff.

William Stevens, the Republican judge, was crossing the street to enter the polls, when Kiley opened fire on him with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver. Stevens, as he made the voting place, says he believed that Stevens, life was about to be taken and he happened to fire on Kiley. Krieger was subsequently released on $500 bail.

The Best Remedy for Croup.

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most reliable and effective remedies is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a whooping cough or the most violent of the croup remedies are almost sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a remedy is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old fashioned remedy for croup, known as hives syrup and told, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up" the phlegm, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Cook & Higgins, druggists.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the liver is over-working. In pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It is used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. King's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Write to Swamp-Root, Inc., also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. King & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. King's Kidney and Bladder Remedy, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THEATRICAL VENTURE

That Promises to be an Unheralded Success.

Rehearsals are being held nightly for the performance of "Charley's Aunt," a very bright, attractive farce-comedy, which will be presented Thursday evening, November 14th, at Holland's Opera House, for the benefit of the Kenton Club. This is the second theatrical venture of this popular organization and promises to be an unheralded success. The proceeds will be devoted to fitting up the gymnasium which are now being remodeled.

The play is a charming comedy of English life, and the scenery and costumes are modern and attractive. A wealthy Brazilian widow describes her student nephew that she will visit him on "Memorial Day" at the famous English seat of learning, Oxford, and the nephew and his chum invite their sweethearts to a luncheon to meet her, but on the eventful day the aunt, failing to put in her appearance, is represented by a college youth, who is welcome to the unusual experience of lovers and proposals which give rise to many annoying and amusing incidents.

The parts are taken by the best local talent, admirably cast, and the production bids fair to equal, if not surpass all previous attempts of Hopkinsville amateurs. The cast is as follows:

Charles Cheney, students Mr. Ben S. Winfree (Charley's nephew), Mr. Lawrence Plank (Professor Rutherford), Mr. Geo. C. Howell (Miss Francis Cheney), Jack's father.

Mr. Wallace Kelly (Heggenburg), Mr. Charles Head (Barnett), the "Indisputable," Mr. Gay Starting (Miss Kitty Verdon), Miss Jean Miller (Miss Amy Spaulding), Miss Mary Starling (Miss Elsie Dechey), Miss Anne McPherson (Miss Lucia D'Astoria).

Tickets go on sale to-day at the Postal Telegraph office.

OFFICIAL FIGURES

Oliver Judge Cook a Comfortable Majority.

The figures in the judicial race were not changed much by the official count. They are as follows:

	Cook, Breathitt
Calloway	2253	1903
Christain	3061	4334
Lyon	899	796
Figg	1360	1313

Majority 7573 7446

Of the Christian county votes 56 for Breathitt and 12 for Cook were held to be good from the uncounted ballots at Beverly, Pembroke and other places. They had no certificates attached to them and the matter was left open until the election officers could be required to attach the necessary statements, showing why the ballots were not counted. Judge Breathitt stated yesterday to a Kentuckian representative that he is not satisfied with the count and will demand a re-count of all the ballots and probably file a contest within 30 days if he cannot get a recount without it.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c and $1.00.

GOES TO SEATTLE.

Dr. John O. Rust Decided to Go to Seattle.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—After the morning service to-day Dr. J. O. Rust, one of the best-known Baptist ministers in the South, tendered his resignation as pastor of the Edgefield Baptist church. He will accept a call to the First Baptist church in Seattle. He was first called to the Seattle church last June, but declined. He will leave within the next two weeks for his new charge. Dr. Rust has filled the Edgefield pulpit for eight years, having come here from Hopkinsville.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of North Neboypa, Pa., made a startling test, resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at R. C. Hardwick's.

NEGRO OUTLAWRY

Thursday Night's Lynching at Pass Christian an Outcome of It

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—The lynching last night at Pass Christian was the culmination of negro outlawry in that section and may be followed by a general movement along the Mississippi coast to get rid of the bad element. The lady assaulted was Mrs. Peter Labouise, formerly Mrs. Osgood Peel, a society belle of New York, having been Miss Isabel Townsend before her first marriage. She is in a serious condition.

An English Author Wrote:

No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves,—November! Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.
